wanderlust /'wɒndəlʌst/

[mass noun]

A strong desire to travel.

Batangas bay serves as a passage between mainland Luzon and other neighboring southern islands.

Having reached the port of Batangas after long hours of driving, I was welcomed and delighted by the vast, calm waters surrounding my vision.

It was my very first time to set aboard a roll-on/roll-off ship, we had loaded our vehicles and travelled southwards by sea.

HERITAGE FROM THE PAST

4

Vigan, Ilocos Sur.

At best, declared and protected as heritage sites; while at worst, neglected to sad, crumbling ruins. Despite their stature, these Spanish-colonial relics have always pacified me in deep appreciation of its intricate and aging beauty. The practices of building such things may now be long lost but echoes much of the skill and craftsmanship of artisans in the old age.
